

PASTOR ROBERT E. JONES

I received the following e-mail yesterday, March 2nd.

Hello Prayer Warriors, Colleagues, Family Members and Faithful Friends.

Yesterday morning right around 9 a.m. my father took his last earthly breath in the loving hands of my mother at Hospice of Dayton. The evening before, he was surrounded by my mother, myself and my wife Cari along with a number of his family who had driven up from North Carolina that day to say their goodbyes. There were tears, singing of hymns and of course many prayers. Before we all left for the evening we gathered in a circle holding hands with my father and offered gratitude for his life and all that he did. At the last amen there was a marked shift in his breathing, an indication that his body, heart, mind and soul were all moving into alignment towards the final moment of transition.

The next morning at 8:55 a.m. cradling his head, my mother kissed his forehead and sat back to see his final exhale. The remainder of the morning was spent preparing my father to be transferred to the funeral home.

This Friday, March 6th at College Hill Community Church

10 a.m. - 12 p.m. Viewing of the Body

12 p.m. Funeral Service

Repass Reception immediately following.

There will be no graveside burial in Dayton as my father requested to be cremated with some of his ashes being returned to the earth of his birth in North Carolina, later this year.

PASTOR ROBERT E. JONES (continued from page 1)

My mother and I and all our families are so grateful for your words, prayers and calls of encouragement during this time. I am sure we will see many of you this Friday and for those who cannot make it, we know your loving hearts continue to hold us high.

We are asking in lieu of flowers or other comforts to my mother and I, that contributions be made to the Dayton Foundation. My parents started a scholarship fund there for ministerial students wanting to specifically bring ministry into the urban setting where funding for training can often be limited. There is a donation page on the Dayton Foundation website that you can use to make direct and secure donations online. If you wish to send checks or contact them directly, the name of the fund is the Pastor Robert E and Karen Jones Urban Ministry Scholarship Fund.

I am deeply saddened by the loss of my father, and like many of you have felt my heart break, thinking how can I go on, how and where will inspiration come from now? Who will truly model the essence of God's love now? The answer is you, me and everyone that was graced by my father's presence. In all of my institutional education, I still have learned more from observing my father about life and ministry than anywhere else. Remind yourself that no matter where you stand the ground is holy and no matter who you are speaking to (regardless of your opinion of them) they are your brother/sister in life. Treat every interaction with Life as a gift from the Holy Spirit; and the essence of my father and his life's work will continue through you.

The healing of loss never ends it simply continues to grow and transform, however we have a choice in our relationship with that grief. Are we willing to let it be fertile soil to eventually yield the blossoms of love or something else? I pray we all choose everyday just as my father did, today is a day that the Lord has made, let us rejoice and be glad in it.

Please feel free to pass this on to anyone you think may not know. I have done my best to capture as many emails as I can, but there is always someone else in my father's large circle of connection.

If you would like to share a special Robert E. moment in next month's newsletter, please send it to jsbpups@aol.com or mail it to Jan Brecht, 7036 Park Vista Road, Englewood, Ohio 45422.

Lent-A Question of Sacrifice By Shedding Or Adding On

This past Sunday, being the first Sunday after Lent, the combined children's and teen Sunday school classes explored the concepts of giving up something for Lent, or focusing on a behavior which would reflect God's great love for us. Hopefully, it would become a behavior we would keep long after Lent. We decided upon trying to do at least one kind thing each day of Lent.

Our goal was to think of a different idea for each day. We were not able to come up with 40, but we want to share what we have. Perhaps our ideas will inspire you to take kindness wherever you find yourself each of the remaining days of Lent. Some similar ideas are edited or combined due to space.

Mind your parents and teachers with a good attitude.

Befriend someone, especially someone who might be friendless.

Forgive others and yourself.

Pick up trash (gloves, please) and don't litter.

Talk nicely, don't yell even when you are mad.

Refrain from ugly talk like cussing, or bad name-calling.

Respect others' ideas of giving or taking on something. Who are you to judge?

Smile at everyone.

Don't judge others by what they have or don't have.

Remember your manners of saying please, thank you, excuse me.

Surprise your parents do not just your usual chores, but also something unexpected.

Do something kind for a person on the street. Give them food, or gloves, water or a prayer.

If someone is annoying you, ask them nicely to stop. Or see if you can just ignore them.

If you want to be treated nicely, try always to treat others nicely.

Take peace with you, act peacefully where you are, and return in the same way.

Think of God and Jesus each morning, asking for their help during the day. Think of them each night with thanks, Receive God's blessings and bless others as you are blessed every day of Lent and afterwards.

POOR PEOPLES' MARCH: A National Call for Moral Revival

In 1968, Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and many others called for a "revolution of values" in America. They sought to build a broad, fusion movement that could unite poor and impacted communities. Today, the Poor People's Campaign: A National Call for Moral Revival has picked up this unfinished work. From Alaska to Arkansas, the Bronx to the border, people are coming together to confront the interlocking evils of systemic racism, poverty, ecological devastation, militarism and the war economy, and the distorted moral narrative of religious nationalism. We understand that as a nation we are at a critical juncture — that we need a movement that will shift the moral narrative, impact policies and elections at every level of government, and build lasting power for the poor and impacted.
